Sports is one of the important parts in human living, to gain a healthy body. Also leisure, which is one of many ways that people use to relax from the crowdedness of metropolitan city activity. The combination of sports and leisure creates healthy body and soul. Creating space to facilitate that activity, a park where people can do sports and have entertainment, is an obligation. It's every city's necessity, including Jakarta. To meet such an obligation, we need a facility. In metropolitan cities like Jakarta a green area for sport is common.

This project is an architectural approach in creating this facility. It aims to contribute to the sports activities of Jakarta's citizens and stimulate a, usually lacking, healthy lifestyle.
