

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis is written to fulfil the academic requirement to achieve a bachelor's degree in social science in the field of International Relations at Universitas Pelita Harapan. This thesis will not be possible without the sole source of strength and guidance from my God, through Jesus Christ my Lord, Friend and Saviour. Additionally, I would love to extend some gratitude and appreciation to these remarkable people that has helped me throughout my journey as a college and future global generation of young people:

1. God, for strength, wisdom, peace, diligence, and patience that he equipped me with throughout the journey.
2. Mom, for such tremendous love, energy, patience, constant prayers, concerns, blessings, funding, and thoughts that supports me throughout the journey with endless embrace and acceptance.
3. Kak Indra and Kak Lia, that has entrusted their house as a space which I could grow my ideas and also as a shelter for my research throughout the pandemic, and so that I could finish my research through its ups and downs.
4. Dr. Edwin M. B. Tambunan, S.I.P., M.Si., as the Dean of Faculty of Social and Political Science for such opportunity given to finish this thesis, and for allowing me to be student of International Relations major of UPH, back in 2017.

5. Mrs. Amelia Joan Liwe Ph.D. as my thesis counsellor and also one of the best lecturers I have ever had throughout my college years, which I have learnt a lot from, and as well has endowed tremendous help for me through ideas, critics, opportunities, and patience, so that I have been able to finish my research and get my best potential out of myself.
6. Family of international class and ASEAN and Southeast Asian concentration class that has inspired me with such great environment to study and learn limitless knowledge about our regionalism.
7. Stefanus Palenteng, Robert Nadeak and the family of Church of Christ in Indonesia (GKDI) that along my college journey has been patiently praying, guide and helped me spiritually throughout my ups and downs as college student.
8. Eric Laurens, for being such a great friend in both happiness and crisis, that have helped me in believing myself that I am able to achieve great things, for those potentials he saw, prayed, and helped me with.
9. John Walker, Sharon Walker and Scott Walker, and Walker family in IZARD County Arkansas. Thank you for times when you all inspired me on how big this world is and especially Scott, for being such a great brother, teacher that in his class, I began to be inspired to pursue international relations, and having faith that differences may be bridged throughout the world.
