There are pros and cons regarding the application of accounting conservatism due to its effect on financial statement's quality. This study aims to examine how profitability and financial distress affect accounting conservatism in all companies except for financial companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange (IDX) during 2015-2019 through empirical testing. With the purposive sampling technique used, 39 sample companies and a total of 195 observation data were obtained and used. All data used were derived from the S&P Capital Market Intelligence Platform. This study uses multiple linear regression analysis with the Statistical Package for the Social Science (SPSS) version 26 as an analysis tool. The result of this study shows that profitability and financial distress have a positive significant effect on accounting conservatism.
