

FOREWORD

This thesis is written as the requirement to fulfill the academic requirements to obtain a bachelor's degree in Social Science, in the study of International Relations at Universitas Pelita Harapan. I would like to thank God, first and foremost for giving me the opportunity to work on this research on "The Social Construction of US Naval Capability Through Hollywood Films." This research that now follows would not have been possible without the help or influence of a great number of people, allow me to thank some of the following:

God, who showed me not all paths are straightforward, that success is superfluous, and bestowing me with the intelligence and strength to see this research to its end. I would like to also thank to Dr. Edwin Martua Bangun Tambunan, S.IP., M.Si. as the Dean of Faculty of Social and Political Science and Elyzabeth Bonethe Nasution, S.I.P., M.A. as the head of International Relations Department for the opportunity to conduct this research.

To Amelia Joan Ribka Liwe Ph.D, I give my utmost gratitude and respect, for not only guidance my thesis, but challenging my arguments to make the best of them. Without the countless hours spent discussing and debating the contents of this research, I would not have been able reach my current confidence and understanding of its subject matter.

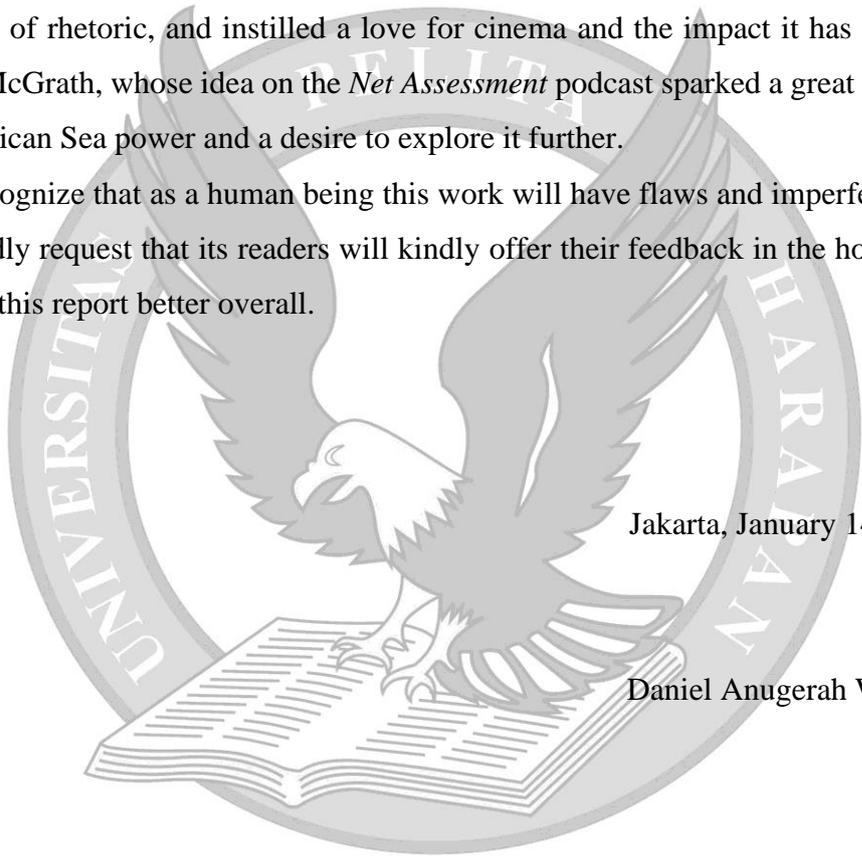

I also thank Ignatius Ismanto, M.Si., MA. for his academic guidance and patience in helping a clueless student to become more familiar with the academic environment of the International Relations Department. In the same way, I would also like to thank the lecturers and staff of the International Relations Department for their part in helping me finish my thesis. May you be assisted in life the same way you have assisted me in this research.

I am grateful for the help given to me by my parents, Medhi Widjaja and Ruth Paulina. Without their emotional, intellectual, and financial assistance, this research would not have been completed. I am thankful to my sister, Priska Adriana, for her encouragement and wit.

I am infinitely grateful to my best friend, Veronica Simansjah whose propensity for lifting my spirits is matched only by propensity for sarcasm. I thank my close circle of friends for their advice and encouragement as well: the team at Widya, Kim Litelnoni, Karuniyado, and Arthur Argantara; my debating friends, Janice, Vandana, Indira, Vania, Nicole, Adinda, and Evan; and my friends in USINDO, Ivena, Putri, and Saras.

Finally, I offer my gratitude to the people whose effects, while indirect, help get me to the place where I can conduct this research. Tyler Howat, who taught me the precepts of rhetoric, and instilled a love for cinema and the impact it has people. Bryan McGrath, whose idea on the Net Assessment podcast sparked a great interest in American Sea power and a desire to explore it further.

I recognize that as a human being this work will have flaws and imperfections, and kindly request that its readers will kindly offer their feedback in the hopes for making this report better overall.
