

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Author had written this thesis with the title “THE APPLICATION OF IB TRANSDISCIPLINARY APPROACH IN HOME LEARNING AT XYZ SCHOOL TANGERANG: A CASE STUDY” for the sake of fulfilling academic prerequisite to attain the Masters of Education degree from Universitas Pelita Harapan. Writing this thesis allows the Author to overcome personal and struggles over a certain period of time. Admittedly, all these struggles and small successes made the Author a better person. It was impossible for the Author to finish this thesis on her own. She can only have finished it by the aid, and support either directly, or indirectly, from her surroundings and cherished. The Author can do nothing else, but to express her gratitude and appreciation to these wonderful beings who encouraged her to finish, even when everything seemed bleak.

However, first the Author would like to thank God Almighty, for giving her an opportunity to pursue a Masters degree in Universitas Pelita Harapan. It is only by His grace that the Author had been able to go this far in her effort to finish a milestone in her life, and in particular, her master’s degree. It is only by His grace that the Author had the family, friends, and teachers who had supported her all this time. Before the Author go on and extends her gratitude, first and foremost the Author would like to say thanks be to God in the highest, for being my strength, for blessing me, and guiding me when I started to go astray and slackened up when writing this thesis.

The Author realizes that it is also only by His grace that she was able to write this thesis and finish it on time. May God be glorified in the Highest. That being said, the I would like to extend my gratitude and thanks from the deepest recesses of my heart to:

1. Ibu Oh Yen Nie., S.E., M. Ed. as the Dean of the Faculty of Education at Universitas Pelita Harapan
2. Dr. Niko Sudibjo, S.Psi., M.A., for being a wonderful and caring Head of the Faculty of Education at Universitas Pelita Harapan.

me the important values in life that one must possess and for being there at the time I needed them most.

6. To my dear sister, Kimberly M. Therisnajaya, whose constant love and sarcastic jokes had me smiling after a long day at work and even on my lowest point. I cannot thank you enough for you to be yourself and for lending an ear when I needed someone to talk to.
7. To the Author's inner circle, who I am happy to acknowledge as my second family: Kezia Octaviadewi, thank you for being my soul sisters since 2010, Da Eun Kwak, Yopi Lim, and Timothy Daniel.

Thank you for all your support, love, and laughter. None of this would be achievable if it were not for you guys pushing me to my limit, proving that this is a mountain that I am able to climb. This year truly a struggle for all of us. May all the experience bonds us as we thrive into the world of adulthood, paving our way into the next phase in life, hand in hand, together.

8. To all support system in church, who all through this pandemic has kept in touch, giving strength even in different phases in life: Adeline Ika Sani, Natasha Situmeang, Chrisanthy Rebecca Surya, and Jessica Cia. I remember the last time I wrote my acknowledgements we were all still single hand in hand, each struggles to finishing their own degree in different places of the world, and now, two degrees and several years later, some have enjoyed marriage life, parenting life, and even a successful career life. My constant prayers and hugs to all of you.

This thesis is simultaneously an end of a period and the first step to a new part of the Author's journey. May this thesis be a proud and strong first step, which testifies the Author's gratefulness in being showered by care, love and encouragement, by her surroundings, only by the Grace of God. Soli Deo Gloria!
