PENGARUH LEADER MEMBER EXCHANGE, HRM PRACTICES DAN PSYCHOLOGICAL EMPOWERMENT TERHADAP EXTRA ROLE PERFORMANCE DENGAN PERAN MEDIASI ORGANIZATIONAL COMMITMENT DI RESTORAN DAN KAFE WILAYAH TANGERANG SELATAN

The occurrence of COVID-19 caused many changes in the work situation of employees from all industries. One of which is the F&B industry. These changes caused by COVID-19 affects employees negatively behavioral-wise and makes them reluctant to show extra role performance. The purpose of this thesis is to test the influence of leader member exchange, human resource management practice, and psychological empowerment on extra role performance with organizational commitment as the mediator. This research is a quantitative research with the population of employees from restaurants that is located in South Tangerang. The sample that is used in this researched is non-probability sampling with purposive sampling technique. The data that is obtained from this research is stemmed from 186 respondents that has been processed using PLS-SEM method. The result of this research indicates that organizational commitment, leader member exchange, human resource management practices, and psychological empowerment has a positive impact on extra role performance, as well as organizational commitment is proven to have a role in mediating the impact of leader member exchange, human resource management practices, and psychological empowerment on extra role performance.
